UNIVERSITY OF THE SOUTH

SEWANEE, TENNESSEE

FOREWORD

Sewanee was conceived and founded in that chivalrous spirit which emanated from the aristocracy of the Old South. With this in mind we have chosen chivalry as our motif.

In those golden years of the future, may you, as you thumb these musty pages, return in fancy to the time when you were a "knight-errant of Sewanee."

"The Grand Old Man of the Mountain," whose unselfish character, high ideals, and undying loyalty have been an inspiration to us all,
do we dedicate this volume.

Alma Mater

Alma Mater, Sewanee,
Our glorious Mother ever be,
I will give my all to thee—
God bless thee to eternity.
Thou canst make me worth the while,
O guide and shelter me,
And all my life, through storm and strife,
My star thou'lt be.

The University

MANY are larger, many are older, yet none has a more striking history. The history of Sewanee, founded on faith and kept alive by the grim determination of many brave souls whose whole existence has been Sewanee—and Sewanee is the University—has been called a "high romance of education."

The University owes its inception to the vision and faith of Bishop Leonidas Polk of Louisiana, who in 1835 proposed to Bishop Otey of Tennessee the establishment of an Episcopal College. Immediate action was prevented by the financial panic of 1837; but the vision, strengthened during the lapse of time, assumed definite form in 1856. At this time, these two churchmen and a third, Bishop Elliot of Georgia, held a conference; and definite plans for the "establishment of a Protestant Episcopal College" were adopted. Their task seemed hopeless, but they set to work as only God-inspired men can. An historian has said of them, "A noteworthy group, Otey, Polk and Elliott—a saint, a soldier, and a scholar."

The name, "The University of the South," was decided upon because the school was not to be the University of any State nor was it to be the gift of any one man. The site for the school was purchased, and on September 10, 1860, a large crowd witnessed the laying of the cornerstone of this "university of the wilderness."

Six months later, however, the country was plunged into the "worst catastrophe of its history;" and Sewanee, along with the rest of the South, was swallowed up in the struggle. All the buildings were destroyed, and even the cornerstone—noble emblem of the founders—was blown to pieces. The endowment was lost, and it seemed as if all the hopes and ideals of those three bishops were blasted into one great conflagration.

Yet, to quote a lover of Sewanee, "Sewanee is of the spirit and can never die." This spirit was resurrected in the person of Bishop Quintard, who in 1886, rekindled the dying embers of faith engendered by Bishops Polk, Otey and Elliott, all of whom had died during the war.

Undaunted by the fact that the South was impoverished and demoralized by the war, Bishop Quintard went to England and raised five hundred thousand dollars on which to rebuild Sewanee. Therefore, mainly through his efforts, the University of the South opened with nine students on September 18, 1868.

From this humble beginning, a great, though still small, university has grown. Its very existence has been a struggle—chiefly against financial ruin. With no endowment, a small enrollment, and no help to be hoped for from the "exhausted South," the University seemed each day to be nearer the brink of failure. But, that undying spirit, Sewanee, has grown and endured through grinding poverty by sacrifice and self-denial, by a reverent tenacity of purpose, and by an unquenchable faith in the spirit in which it was founded and later reborn.

Dr. B. F. Finney

Vice-Chancellor

Dr. B. F. Finney attended the University as a student, and his life has been closely associated with it ever since. After leaving Sewanee, he was graduated from Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg, Va. Even as a student Dr. Finney had displayed an unusual interest in the welfare of the University, and in 1913 he was placed on the Board of Regents. He served in this capacity until 1922, at which time he was made Vice-Chancellor.

In 1924 he was given the honorary degree of LL.D. from Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y. Dr. Finney is also a member of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew and is a trustee of St. Katherine's, a girls' school, at Bolivar, Tenn. In addition, he is the Executive Head of the Board of Trustees at Columbia Institute, a girls' school at Columbia, Tenn.

In the years that Dr. Finney has served as Vice-Chancellor, he has done much for the good of the University. He has put Sewanee on a much sounder financial basis, and his accomplishments in the endowment campaign have been very exceptional.

Though his interests in the campaign have kept him away from Sewanee much of the time, "Uncle Ben," as he is affectionately called, has won a place in the heart of every student; he is indeed a loyal son of whom his Alma Mater may well be proud.

Dean George M. Baker

Dr. George Merrick Baker has very ably served as Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Sewanee since 1920. During that time, he has greatly improved the educational program in the University, and he has gained friends among the professors and students alike.

Dr. Baker was graduated from Yale University in 1900, and in 1905 he received his Ph.D. from that university. He served as Instructor in German at Yale from 1901-1910, with the exception of 1906, which he spent studying in the Universities of Berlin and Munich. From 1910-1914, he was head of the German Department at William Penn Charter School in Philadelphia. In 1917, he came to Sewanee as Professor of the Germanic Languages, which position he held until he was made Dean.

At the outbreak of the World War, Dr. Baker enlisted in the Foreign Service Department of the A. E. F. He was a member of the General Staff College in 1918, and after the close of the war, he served on the General Staff with the Army of Occupation in Germany.

Dr. Baker is also well known for his commentaries on Germanic philology. He is the editor of German Stories and also Kleist's Prinz von Homnurg. Moreover, he has been a frequent contributor to the Sewanee Review, the Journal of Germanic Philology, and the Modern Language Notes.

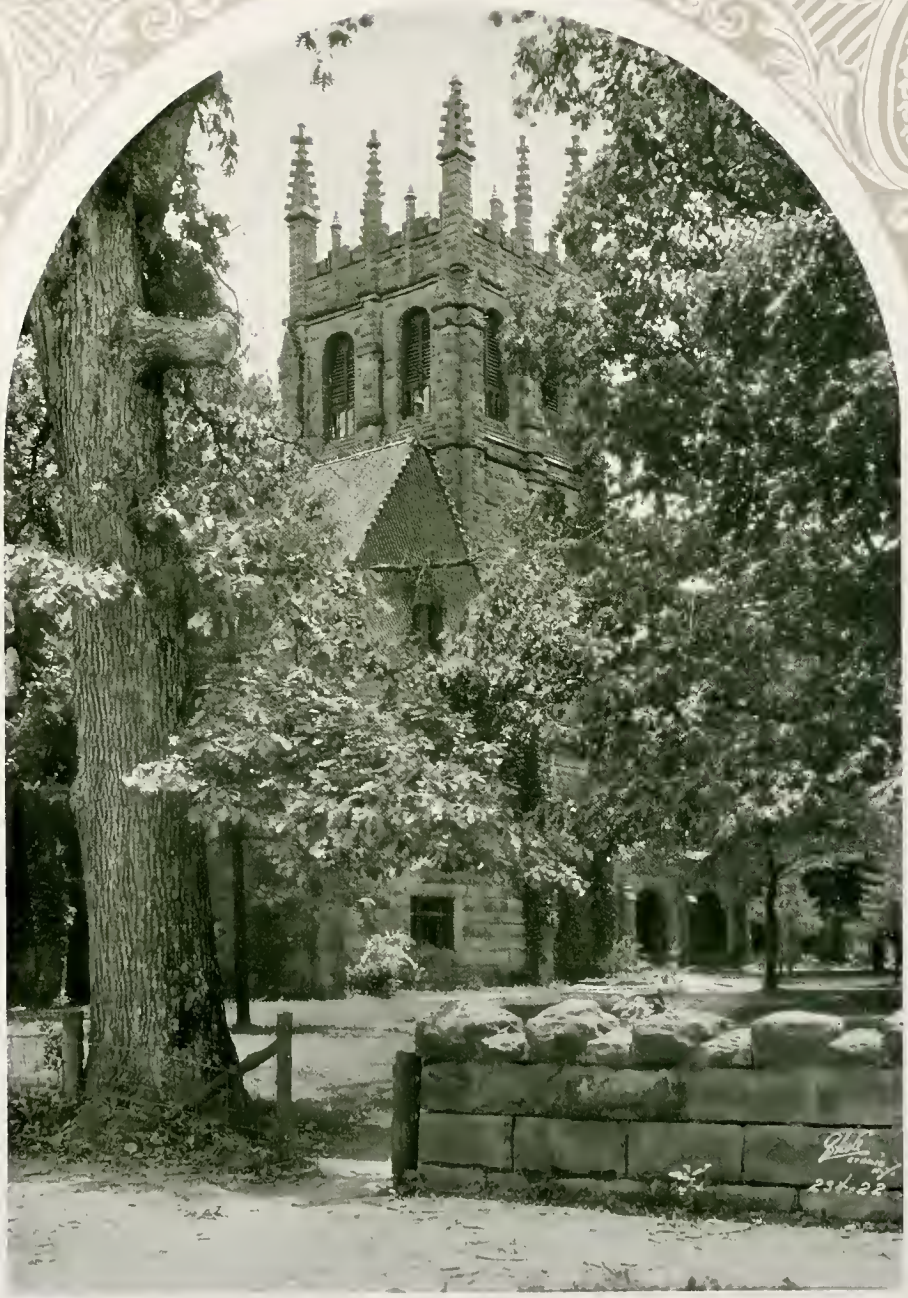
"Oh, how I long to travel back
And tread again that ancient track!"

VIEW SECTION

"The dwelling of man partakes of his brief existence,
The dwelling of God of his eternity."

"But let my due feet never fail
To walk the studious cloister's pale."



"And stately, rich in emblem and the work
Of ancient kings who did their days in stone."

"Our worship is enriched by thee,
O, give us that with which we all may see."

"For what is morning but to tread old ways
Where other steps have trod, and measure days?"

"Thru the slowly-mellowing avenues
And solitary passes of the wood."

"Tho' round its breast the rolling clouds are spread, Eternal sunshine settles on its head."

Learning by study must be won;
'Twas ne'er entailed from son
to son.

Tristram in Brittany

Softly the tinkling of Camelot bells
Made a tune for a saraband;
Silken the sails of our caravels
As we voyaged to Ireland.
Bright was the moon for the perilous Quest
Sprinkling a silvery path to the West,
West to the court of my lady,
My lady, my lady fair.

Fevered with fragrance that April distils
From the blooms of the blossoming days—
Tulips, narcissi, and daffodils—
Is the song in my lady's praise.
Wistful, she walked in her garden there:
Witched are my lips in a dark despair,
Witched in the praise of my lady,
My lady, my lady fair.

Opal and emerald and amethyst,
With the color of Michaelmas skies;
Glory of gems which are brought from the East
Was the glow in Isolde's eyes.
Brocades of yellow and satins her gown,
Sapphires and rubies gleamed in her crown,
Gleamed in the praise of my lady,
My lady, my lady fair.

Sweeter than breath of the Eastern wind
Is the breath of my lady fair;
Rarer than gold that is thrice refined
Is the gold of my lady's hair.
High mounts my song in joyous ascent,
Singing its meed till its rapture is spent;
Spent in the praise of my lady,
My lady, my lady fair.

The Order of Gownsmen is the students' governing body. For some years previous it had been rather lax in asserting its rights and in performing its duties, but this year it awoke from its sleep and showed a real interest in student affairs. Among other things, it re-edited the students' handbook, which had been unchanged since 1924. The work of the Order is carried out by an Executive Committee, composed of the officers and the Chairmen of the Committees. In consideration of their attainment and added responsibility, the Gownsmen are granted certain privileges.

The Order is composed of all students who have completed 29 credit hours. This places the power in the hands of the two upper classes and the Theologs.

The Coaching Staff

As their Professor of Physical Education and as Head of the Department of Athletics, Sewanee boasts of Coach Mike Bennett. He is well known throughout the South, and as a recognition of his merit he was this year selected by the coaches of this country for the purpose of introducing football into Mexico.

Coach Kirckpatrick, famous for his prep-school champions at Montgomery Bell, is a new addition to the Tiger coaching staff. He is in charge of football and devotes most of his time to the backfield.

Coach Cubbage has charge of the line during football season. In the spring he directs the track team. In all seasons he is the same genial and able "Uncle Ben."

Coach Emmerson, who had for many years turned out championship basketball teams for the Y. M. C. A., of Nashville, was this year secured as our basketball coach. His sterling ability was soon evident, and within the next year he should have one of the strongest basketball teams in the South.

Schoolfield circles 'Bama's right end

Review of the Season

Though this year's football season was one of the most disastrous in the history of the school, yet we find a solace in the noble fight made on Thanksgiving. Never will we forget the sight of the small purple team as it stiffened on its own two-yard line and held the large Vandy backs for no gain four times in succession.

Sewanee, 14; Bryson, 0

Sewanee, minus the services of four regulars, inaugurated her 1928 football season by avenging a defeat of last year at the hands of Bryson College. The final score was 14-0. At no time during the game was the Tiger line in danger; he carried the fight to the opposition throughout the fray. Early in the second quarter the Purple started a drive from their own forty-yard line and it was never stopped until Reuben Bean had deposited the oval over the Bryson goal line. Boyd added the extra point with a dropkick to make the score, 7-0. In the second half Sewanee drove Bryson off their feet, but lacked the punch to score more than once. In the closing minutes of play Charlie Boyd intercepted a pass and wriggled back down to the eight-yard line. There the Bryson line stiffened and two thrusts at the line netted little. On the next play Schoolfield passed over the goal line to Ezzell for our second touchdown just as the whistle blew. On an attempted place kick, Tolley fumbled the ball, but Schoolfield picked it up and raced around end for the extra point. Boyd, Schoolfield, Ezzell, A. E. Young and Joe Bean played best for the winners, while McDill and King were most consistent for the losers.

Sewanee, 0; Texas A. & M., 69

On the following Saturday the Tigers journeyed to the Lone Star State to do battle with Texas A. & M. With the thermometer standing at 96 degrees they took the field amidst the cheers of a few Sewanee rooters. There was an exchange of punts and then the powerful Texas backs went into action. For a few minutes the Tiger battled bravely and withstood the assault; but the pitiless rays of "Old Man Sol," and the fierce drives of Dorsey, Conover, Burges and Zarofonetis were too much. The game was only a few minutes old when the Purple wilted before the onslaught. Sewanee had her stars in Schoolfield and "Buddy" Young, who played like demons and backed up the wavering line until exhausted by the heat. Dorsey, Conover and Burges starred for the Texans.

Sewanee, 13; Transylvania, 14

Presenting a fighting little team that fought hard all the way, Transylvania twisted the Tiger's tail in one of the wierdest exhibitions of football ever seen on Hardee field. It was an off day for the Purple warriors and they certainly showed it on every occasion. Inability to hold the pigskin within the fifteen-yard line cost them a victory. Autin was the offensive star of the game, scoring both of the touchdowns. Boyd's returning of punts was unusually good, while in the line Ezzell, Buddy Young and Joe Bean are to be commended for their nice work. Crutcher and Hasselton starred for Transylvania.

SEWANEE, 38; CUMBERLAND, 0

The Tigers had now suffered two successive defeats, so that the Cumberland Bulldogs felt confident of their ability to administer a third. But the Purple showed a complete reversal of form to swamp the lawyers by the score of 38-0.

During the game the Tigers developed an offense that was invincible and frequently took to the air to gain yardage. There were a galaxy of stars. Charlie Boyd scored three of the touchdowns, running one back from the kickoff; Barron did the same trick but was called back. Schoolfield, Autin and Reuben Bean played nice games to complete the backfield luminaries. In the line Captain Bruton and Griswold plugged up holes in fine fashion. Bean and Ezzell also played jam up ball in the line and were responsible for numerous tackles. Cook played a wide-awake game for Cumberland. Several times his red head was seen to come up last from the pile of gridiron warriors. High and Clark divided honors in the backfield.

SEWANEE, 12; UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA, 42

On the following Saturday when Purple met Crimson in the Legion Stadium at Birmingham, there was celebrated the twenty-fourth meeting of Tiger and Tide.

Schoolfield eludes an Alabama tackler

That evening when the sun sank behind the clouds, the schools were tied in their standing, each having won twelve games.

Every game of the twenty-four has been fiercely contested, and this one was no exception. The Tiger was outclassed, but his fighting spirit won the sincere admiration of the twelve thousand who witnessed the game. The line lacked weight, but the backfield functioned like clockwork; and led by the versatile Schoolfield, who shot passes with unerring accuracy, the Purple scored two touchdowns. Schoolfield starred in the backfield, while Ezzell and Piper on the flanks, were at all times menaces to the Crimson offense. Ezzell had to retire from the game early in the fourth quarter, and as he left the field a Birmingham sports writer was heard to ask, "who is that man?" "Ezzell," was the rejoinder. "I'll say he is," was the sports writer's reply. Hicks and Holm starred in the backfield for "Bama," while Skidmore starred in the line and at kicking the extra points from placement.

SEWANEE, 6; UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, 71

HEAT, intolerable Heat—again the Tigers struck this, combined with a powerful driving eleven and they fell before the onslaught of the Florida Alligator by a 71-6 decision. The score at the end of the first quarter was 6-6, but the Tiger strength was spent and from then on it was a Tiger rout.

Reuben Bean stops Vandy's smash at the line

The mountaineers were handicapped by the lack of substitutes, which were needed in the intense heat. The result was that they had no more chance with Florida than would a Tiger with an Alligator battling in the water. The second team was sent in to stem the tide at the beginning of the second half, but they were unable to cope with the hard-driving Florida backs and were soon replaced by the first string. Young, Bruton and Stimson played best for the Tigers in the line; Schoolfield and Autin excelled in the backfield. For Florida, Clark was most consistent in the line, while Berthea, Goodbread and Sauls starred in the backfield.

Sewanee, 0; University of Tennessee, 37

Sewanee presented a rejuvenated team in Knoxville on the following week-end; and although beaten by the decisive score of 37-0, played a better defensive game, the line being almost impregnable. Reuben Bean was both the offensive and defensive star for the Tigers. His ability at backing up the line was one of the chief reasons why the Vols were so unsuccessful in that sector. Jack Autin returned some beautiful punts with his customary grace and ease. Likewise, he showed his track ability by overtaking the fleet-footed McEver in order to stave off a touchdown. As proof that the game was more closely contested than the score might indicate, we will state that Sewanee made seven first downs to Tennessee's eleven.

Griswold nails Vandy near their own goal line

SEWANEE, 6; TULANE, 41

On Saturday, November the seventeenth, Sewanee and Tulane met in New Orleans for their annual gridiron battle. The Purple went into the game minus two of their stars; Schoolfield was nursing a bad shoulder, while Joe Bean was out with a bad knee. Tulane scored early in the game and shortly afterward the Tigers did likewise, but failed to gain the extra point.

For three quarters the Greenies led by this narrow margin of one point. Both teams were playing excellent defensive games. Ezzell and Bill Cravens were smearing Tulane's end runs, while Bean and "Buddy" Young were plugging the line. Often the celebrated Banker was being thrown for losses of from one to five yards.

Then near the close of the fourth quarter it was necessary to remove Ezzell, Cravens and Griswold from the line-up. Immediately the Sewanee defense cracked, and Banker and Armstrong began to gain at will. The final score was 41-6.

SEWANEE, 0; VANDERBILT, 13

It was Thanksgiving day and once more the Purple and White was hoisted opposite the Black and Gold. What did it matter that Sewanee was doped to lose by a lopsided score, for on Thanksgiving dope means nothing to the Tiger. Amidst the tumultuous cries of "Yea, Sewanee's Right," the teams took the field and the battle was on.

The Commodore soon found that this was no senile beast, but a growling, angry Tiger which would not yield. Time after time the Vandy backs worked the ball for a first down only to find further advance impossible. That small line of Purple would not be crossed in times of danger, while the backfield, though unable to gain, hurled itself at every attack.

Sewanee's light ends performed in heroic manner against the towering Vanderbilt flankmen. The center of the line, composed of three light men, Stimson, Griswold and Ryan, was impenetrable. Bruton, performing in his last college game, brought back memories of the past year at Thanksgiving. Schoolfield and Bean were demons on the defense. All the team was heroes, for though defeated, they gave their best. Seven Tiger luminaries ended their gridiron careers in this game—Captain Bruton, Jim Griswold, Jack Autin, Billy Schoolfield, Chester Chattin, Reuben Bean and Charlie Boyd.

FRESHMAN TEAM

The Freshman Season

This year "Hec" Clarke, a former Tiger star and for the past few years the freshman football coach, was once more in charge. He was ably assisted by Buck Haynes, a wearer of the Purple and White in the memorable Sewanee-Vanderbilt game of 1924. The entire squad settled down to work early in the season, and the result was one of the best freshman teams in the South. Only one game was lost throughout the season.

The first opponent was Bryson College, which was trampled to the tune of 20-7. Worrall ran, punted and passed to lead the Sewanee frosh in total yardage gained. He scored the second touchdown on an end run for eleven yards and passed to Fussell for the third. Phillips had rammed off tackle for the initial counter.

The next game was fought to a 0-0 tie in weather more suitable for a boat race than for football; Hardee Field was a quagmire. In such conditions brilliant runs were impossible, and fumbles played a leading role. The Sewanee frosh threatened early in the game and in the closing minutes of the final quarter. Centre never offered a serious threat at scoring, though their Indian Chief, Tennikat, pounded through for many gains in mid-field. Jeffries was Sewanee's most consistent back; Joe Kellerman, substituting for Worrall, was a close second. Goodman played a good defensive game and received several passes for short gains. Patton usually beat the ends down the field to make the tackle on punts. Both teams packed plenty of power and were fighting hard at all stages of the game. Sewanee gained more yardage and looked the better team. On a dry field we would pick them to win, but who knows?

On the following week-end it was once more Sewanee versus Kentucky. This time it was the Tiger frosh who took the train for a foreign field. The destination was Georgetown. Once more the field was muddy and water-soaked. For the first ten minutes neither team could score, then near the end of the first quarter Worrall received a punt which he returned forty-eight yards for a touchdown. After this, it was only a question as to how high the score would mount. Near the close of the game, Jeffries made the longest run of the day by dashing around end for fifty yards and a touchdown. Phillips and Hafley tore the Georgetown line to shreds by their plunges and were always to be depended upon for a few yards. The final score was 34-0, Sewanee.

Then came the hefty team from Chattanooga. For a freshman aggregation they were one of the heaviest teams ever seen on Hardee Field. Taking the opening kick-off, they marched straight up the field for a touchdown. This seemed to incite the Tigers who now began to fight in earnest. Worrall led the attack with his usual calm, but steady and consistent gains. Never in his career did he play a more spectacular game. It was he who placed the ball in position for scoring the first touchdown, it was his steady arm which shot the oval into Jeffries' waiting arms to score the second. It was his sensational run which scored Sewanee's third marker. On this run, man after man, attempted to bring him down; at least six seized his elusive hips, but none held them. Joyfully, the side lines prophesied a freshman victory against Vanderbilt on Thanksgiving. But such was not to be, for on the following week Worrall broke his leg in a scrimmage against the Varsity.

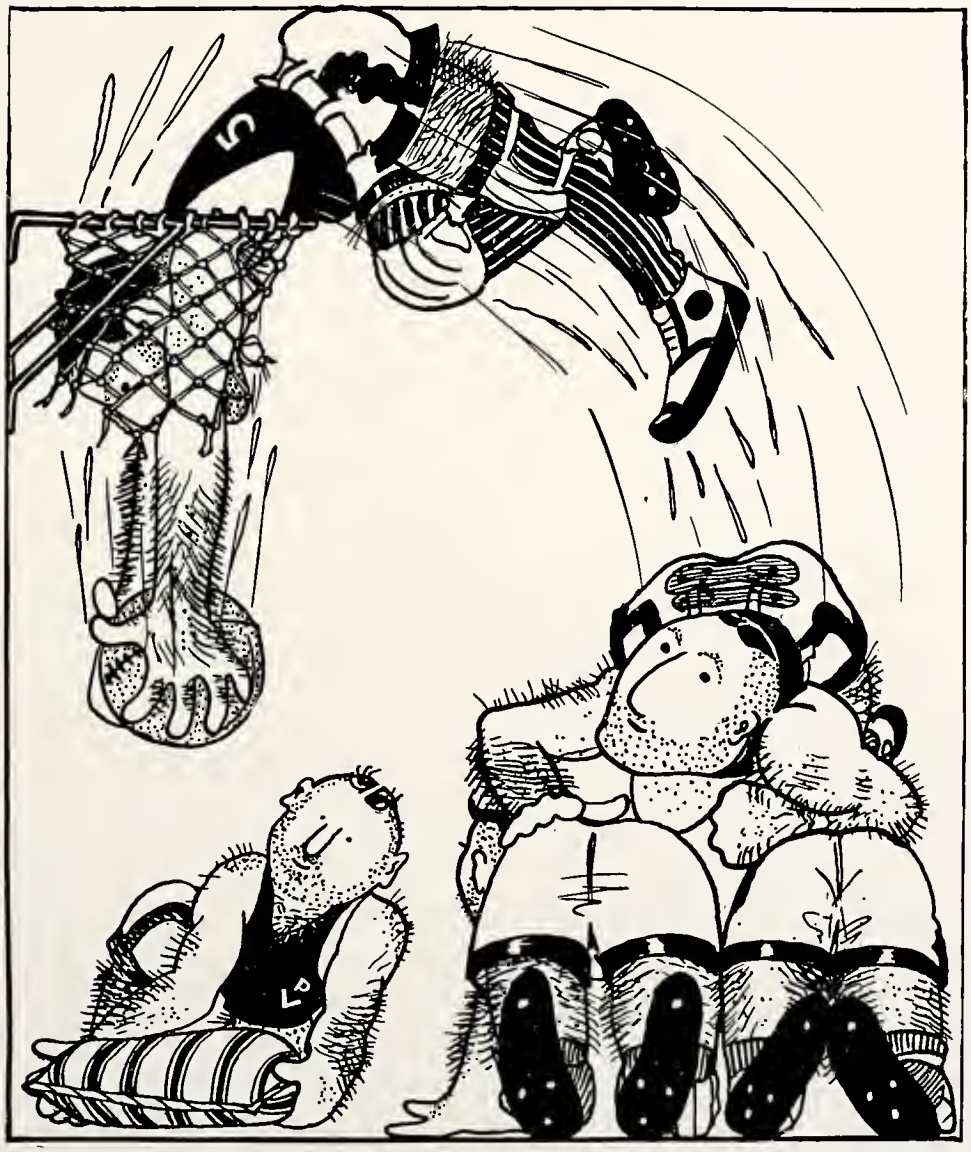
On Thanksgiving morning the freshmen clashed with the rats from Vanderbilt. The scene was a black, muddy field in Sulphur Dell in Nashville. For the first few minutes the Purple frosh had the better of the engagement and threatened the Vandy goal, but the attack soon wilted and the absence of Worrall's guiding hand began to be felt. The young Commodores started up the field on a drive which ended when Leonard swept around end for a score. From then on throughout the first half the Tigerettes were chiefly on the defensive.

In the second half, the Purple frosh took the offensive and mixing many passes with line plays, threatened to score on two occasions, but in both instances the final punch was lacking. The game ended with the counter standing, 13-0 in favor of Vandy.

But in spite of the defeat, there is nothing but praise to be said for the entire freshman team. They went into the game demoralized by the loss of their leader and heavily outweighed in the line. We only hope that they will be as successful on the Varsity as they have been as freshmen,

FRESHMAN SQUAD

BASKET BALL



Review of the Varsity Season

Sewanee's basketeers answered the call in early November to find themselves in a new gym and with a new coach, namely, Lucien Emmerson. The Tiger's first opponent was the Nashville Ramblers, who came up on the Mountain to take the Tigers for a ride—the final score was 28-23. Eaton, of the Ramblers, was high point man for the evening, with 15 points. Thigpen was Sewanee's best bet with four field goals and a foul. Hines and Captain Williams starred on the defense, holding the Ramblers to seven points in the first half.

Coming back after the holidays the Mountaineers paid a return visit to Nashville. On the first night they were decisively beaten by the Ramblers who had the advantages of a home floor and an intensive holiday campaign. On the following night the Burk Terrors furnished the opposition. For a time the Tigers came very near proving that there's nothing in a name and for three quarters led the way. But Chest's men finally rallied and put the game on ice in the closing few minutes of play. Thigpen was Sewanee's offensive gun; Frizzelle and Hines were the greatest hindrances to the Terror forwards.

Thanksgiving memories crowded the following week-end when Vandy's Commodores were met in Nashville. Again the contest bore the earmarks of a Sewanee victory; but the Tigers "pooped" after leading to the three-quarter mark, and so satisfied the ancient aphorism that there's many a slip 'twixt the hoop and the crip. Yates caged 16 points to lead the field in scoring; Bruton and Thigpen were the most powerful on the defense.

Bryson was easy and the Tigers jumped into the lead to run up a score of 39-32. Joe Bean led the scoring with 16 points to his credit, Thigpen was next with 11. Williams and Hines co-starred on the defense, forcing the opposition to take long and wild shots from difficult angles.

Tidal waves are disastrous and "Bama's" was no exception. Led by a blonde streak named Larrick, they twisted the Tiger's tail and tied it into forty-six knots. Bruton, Williams and Yates played best for the losers.

Then came Coach Floyd's charges from Vanderbilt. The first half ended 13-7 in the Purple's favor, with the entire Sewanee team functioning smoothly. But in the second half "Lady Luck" turned a deaf ear to the Tiger's pleas, and the Commodores swept to victory.

The following week-end witnessed the team's departure on a road trip. The first stop was in Chattanooga, where we lost a thrilling match to the Moccasins. Mr. Lotspeich shot three goals in the closing moments of the game to nose out the Jungaleers by the close count of 41-36. On the following night the team seemed dead against a powerful Georgia Bulldog which swept to a 41-19 victory. Georgia soil gave place to South Carolina sod, and Tiger met Tiger in a Clemson lair. An even first half and an overwhelming attack in the second spelled defeat for Sewanee. Cody's crew were dead shots, "nuff sed." Columbia was the next stop and South Carolina was the foe. The Tiger was weary, taking the short end of a 37-23 score to end a disastrous road trip. Bruton performed wonderfu ly in his home town, playing one of the best games of his career.

Their trip being over, the Tigers took a new lease on life and from this time improved daily. In a return engagement with Chattanooga they won an exciting game by the close count of 34-33. A last minute rally by the Moccasins almost carried home the bacon. Thigpen starred on the offense to lead the scoring with 13 points; Bruton and Williams played nice defensive games. The next game was on Washington's birthday; and the Tigers were true to their word, for they certainly gave the Vols the fight of their lives. Hope starred on both the defense and the offense. The final score was 22-15.

The Tigers ended the season by journeying to Murfreesboro, where they played the Middle Tennessee Teachers. The game was fast and furious with the Tigers doing most of the "teaching." Hope starred for Sewanee; but along with two others he had to retire early in the game, when Referee Bowser Chest served the riot act. In this game five Purple basketeers sang their Swan Song—Captain Williams, Bruton, Hope, Frizzelle and Bryant.

Hitherto basketball at Sewanee had been the "ugly duckling" of our sports. No man was hired to coach basketball and to do that alone. But this year the A. B. C. decided to give it a fair trial with an expert instructor.

The season itself demonstrated conclusively that Sewanee will enjoy and support a well coached team; for all the games were witnessed by large and enthusiastic crowds. With a strong nucleus of regulars on which to mould the powerful freshman aggregation, there can be no doubt but that basketball has gained a strong position among the sports of the mountain.

Freshman

The scores which the Freshman basketball team piled up this season look like those of a one-sided bowling match. In the season they took 322 points to their opponents' 137. Never has the mountain boasted of a more powerful freshman team.

The season was inaugurated with a 52-15 victory over McMinnville High School. McAlpine led the attack with 19 points; McRee, Dawson and Goodman followed close on his heels. Soaper excelled as a guard. In the next game the smooth-working freshman machine rolled up 56 points to Winchester High School's 10. Dawson piled up 24 points to share the limelight with Fortune. Next came the Castle Heights Military Academy. They were fresh from an invasion of the East in which they had defeated the West Point Plebes. But the freshmen refused to be impressed and proceeded to "drub" the Cadets, 41-19. In this game, Dawson shone against his Alma Mater with 15 points to his credit. McRee was not far behind with 10 points. Then came two games with M. B. A., of Nashville. On the mountain the frosh were the victors by the score of 58-24, in the city they won 30-21. In both games McAlpine and Goodman led the scoring, while Soaper continued to perform brilliantly as a guard. In the return game with Castle Heights the freshmen registered their only defeat of the season. They were minus the services of Dawson, their star forward, but nevertheless made a valiant fight before losing by the close score of 26-25. Fussell was the star of the game. As a climax to the year the frosh journeyed to Shelbyville to play the Shelbyville High School. The final score was 60-12 in favor of Sewanee. McRee was high point man with 25 points.

With such promising material for next year's varsity, Coach Emmerson predicts a brilliant future for Sewanee's basketball team.

TRACK
STARS

Review of Varsity Track

Sewanee, 62; Tennessee, 55

Sewanee opened her track season by staging a thrilling battle with the Vols on Shields-Watkins field at Knoxville. Sewanee's outstanding events in the meet were: Schoolfield's vaulting, Eby's mile, Craven's hurdling, and the relay. Schoolfield soared over the bar at twelve feet; Eby broke his own and the Sewanee record to win the mile; Cravens won both the low and high hurdles. At the end of the meet proper, the Tiger was leading by a narrow two-point margin. The relay was necessary to decide the meet. It was then that our relay team, composed of Barron, Keyworth, Brenizer, and Captain Autin, circled the oval four times in three minutes and twenty-nine seconds to lower the Sewanee record to win the meet.

Sewanee, 55; Alabama, 57

"Bama's" Crimson Tide came Tiger hunting on the mountain and there was plenty of excitement for all, when the hunt was called on Hardee Field. The track was fast, and only a stiff wind kept some Alabama and Sewanee records from being cracked. Bradley, of Alabama, opened the meet by winning the century in ten flat. From then on it was a nip and tuck affair all the way with Alabama holding the lead. Eby was high point man for the Tigers, winning both the mile and the half. Cravens and Freyer took care of the low hurdles to keep our record unspotted in this event. The loss of Captain Autin, who was out with a pulled tendon, was keenly felt. The meet ended with Alabama two points up—there was no changing of the results, for 'Bama brought no relay team with them.

Sewanee, 61; Kentucky, 56

On the following Saturday Sewanee's mile relay team once more copped them the meet. The—supposedly-tame—Wildcats from Kentucky furnished the opposition, and upset the dope bucket by proving to be quite ferocious. The score was tied no less than four times. Freddie Freyer was high-point man for the Purple, capturing firsts in the century and two twenty, and following Billy Cravens to the tape in the hurdles. Cravens captured the high and low hurdles to be next in line for high-point man for the Tigers. McLane of the Wildcats was high-point man of the meet, with firsts in the high jump, broad jump, and javelin. The relay was to decide the meet. Hope, Keyworth, Brenizer and Autin ran the event for Sewanee. Brenizer, running third, overcame a five-yard lead to give the baton to Autin, who breezed home to give the Tigers the bacon.

Sewanee, 38; Vanderbilt, 74

When Tiger met Commodore in Dudley Field, it was just a case of meeting a team that was too good. After the hundred, in which Sharpe beat the diminutive Freyer by inches, Sewanee never had a look-in. There were no records broken, but Cravens and Freyer set a premium on the low hurdles by finishing one and two as they had in previous meets. Schoolfield won the pole vault by clearing twelve feet. Cravens and Freyer were high-point men for the Tigers with eight points each. Catoe, of Vanderbilt, took firsts in the two-twenty and the quarter to be high-point man of the meet. Pete Young jumped his way to a trip to the Conference by clearing the bar at five feet and ten inches.

The Conference

Though L. S. U. won the conference meet for the second consecutive year, Sewanee feels justly proud of the few men she entered. On a wet field Schoolfield (no pun intended) soared over the bar at almost twelve feet to place third in the pole vault. Captain-elect Young received the right to wear wings on his jersey by taking fourth in the high jump. Billy Cravens went over the low hurdles fast enough to place fourth with such competition as Beard and Virgin of Auburn. The relay, with Julian Hope starring, broke the record which it had made earlier in the season to finish fourth.

The football relay, a new thing started this year, is a race in which a football is passed rather than a baton. The Tigers also placed fourth in this event, but it did not count in the scoring of the day.

Golf

This year Sewanee's golf team was composed of Williams, Edwards, Butler and Holloway. Their outstanding achievement was a victory over Vanderbilt.

In the first match Georgia defeated our boys 11-7, though Williams won all three of his points.

The "rambling wreck" from Georgia Tech was too much for us, so we went down by a 10½-7½ score. The team seemed slightly off form in this match.

Alabama met Sewanee on a Chattanooga course and trounced us 15½-3½. Williams split his points with Pritchett, now the S. I. C. champion.

Led by Captain Williams, the Tiger met Commodore in Nashville and defeated him 22-14. None of the Sewanee team had a score higher than eighty. Williams turned in a 69 on one of the rounds.

The scene shifted to Asheville, where the Tigers continued their winning by defeating the University of North Carolina.

In the Conference Meet the boys found it difficult to adapt their play to the style necessary on the course, but once they got under way they turned in some good scores. Williams defeated Duchwall, the champion captain of the Florida team, but was eliminated by Prichett, who later became champion. The rest of our team was in the second flight, but they failed to show for the money.

Tennis

In their first match the Sewanee netmen fell before Georgia Tech in straight sets, 6-0. Against Vanderbilt they showed better form, but again lost, 6-0. Yates and Cann extended their men to extra games and three sets, but Cram was too big a ticket for Allen.

In the match with Southwestern of Memphis, the Tigerst lost, 7-2. Raines and McFadden won the two sets for Sewanee. Chattanooga invaded the mountain and shut out the Tiger, 6-0. In the match with Howard College our boys showed a reversal of form and won, 4-3. Brown and Raines won their sets in the singles, Raines and McFadden repeated in the doubles, and Allen with Cann, cinched the meet with their spectacular play in the last match of the day.

Sewanee's outstanding netman, however, was a freshman. C. L. (Teddy) Burwell played several close matches with netmen of national prominence. He defeated Tamio Abie, the Davis Cup player from Japan; carried Van Ryn to extra games, and played both Grant, of Atlanta, and Cram, of Vanderbilt, to even breaks.

Interfraternity Athletics

Almost as full of interest and excitement as the intercollegiate contests are the interfraternity games. As an incentive for effort in these tournaments and leagues the A. B. C. gives a large silver cup to the fraternity earning the greatest number of points. First, second and third places are counted.

A. T. O.'s Win Basketball Title

Early in the interfrat basketball tourney the Sigma Nus and the A. T. O.'s began to stand out as the best teams on the mountain; and the last game found them playing each other for the title. The game was closely contested with the A. T. O.'s emerging as the victors.

S. A. E.'s Annex Track Meet

In the interfraternity track meet the S. A. E.'s and the A. T. O.'s fought it out almost from the start. The Omegans held the lead most of the way, but the final drive of Hoppen, Page, and Company, was not to be denied. The Sig Alph Eps cinched the contest by taking the relay. The K. A.'s placed third in the meet.

Sigma Nus Win in National Sport

Taking a lead early in the season, the Sigma Nu baseball team was by far the best in the league. Their heavy hitting team was never stopped. In every game they piled up the score almost at will. At this writing, second place is disputed by the Deltas, S. A. E.'s, and Phi Gams.

Phi Delts Supreme Among Racketeers

The Phil Delts played the S. A. E.'s in the finals for the tennis crown. Barron, Soaper and Daggett defeated Poellnitz, Butler and McRee by a 2-1 count, McRee defeating Daggett for the S. A. E.'s counter.

Phi Gams Are Golfers

The Phi Gams proved that "Eckie" Williams was not their only golfer by winning the interfrat golf title. The tourney was slow in getting under way because of inclement weather; but once started, the Fiji foursome, composed of Walker, "Granny" Williams, Sayles and Frizzelle, showed its ability. It showed good form throughout and merited its victory. Chattin lent encouragement by his consistent effort.

Bengals Like New Handball Courts

The handball contests of this year were played on the new courts in the basement of the new gym. The Bengal team, composed of Schuessler and Schuessler, seemed to find these courts to their liking, for they swept over all competition until they reached the Deltas, champions of last year. Here they met Berry and Freyer. The match was fast and furious, going to four games; but finally the Bengals broke through to win the victory.

Where order in variety we see, and where, though all things differ, all agree.

Pan-Hellenic Council

The Pan-Hellenic Council

THE Pan-Hellenic Council has for its object the promotion of better interfraternity relations and the government of fraternity activities. Its membership consists of two representatives from each of the national Greek letter societies.

The Council issues rules governing rushing of new men and, in cases of violation of these regulations, acts as a court to try the offending fraternity or individual. It is significant to note that there have been no cases of violation of Pan-Hellenic rules during the past five years. Much favorable comment on the Sewanee system of rushing has been heard from various universities in the South, and in some cases the plans adopted by Sewanee Pan-Hellenic in 1924 have been copied by neighboring schools.

The second Sunday after the opening of the school year is usually designated by Pan-Hellenic as Pledge Day. At this time men who have received invitations to join fraternities go to the house of their choice to be welcomed by their future brothers.

Officers of Pan-Hellenic Council for the year 1928-1929 were: E. A. R. Lemmon, president, and John Cleghorn, secretary.

Membership in Alpha Phi Epsilon is limited to those gownsmen who have shown proficiency in the forensic field. Monthly meetings are held in the various fraternity houses and in the homes of the faculty members. In these meetings the various problems of national life are discussed; this year especial attention was given to those problems which concern the student at Sewanee. The program of the year was climaxed by a formal banquet, held during the latter part of May.

Sopherim began its work early this year, electing some able men to membership early in October. As is usually the case, the meetings were held bi-monthly. At these meetings numerous original writings were presented to the society. In the realm of poetry, Dearing and Patton excelled. Burger and Cain were among the best of the prose writers. Frequent visits made by members of the English Department added to the dignity and merit of the year's work.

Sopherim claims as alumni some of the best writers of the South. It elects its members from gownsmen who have shown interest and ability in writing. It attempts to foster and to encourage this ability by affording the student an opportunity for presenting his work to his fellow-students for their criticism. During some years a particular field of writing is stressed, as was the short story last year. This year, however, a rather elastic program was followed; essays, short stories, orations, and poetry were attempted.

Blue Key is a kind of College Kiwanis for discussing and treating the problems which arise in the course of school life. Only gownsmen are eligible for election to membership, and those men elected are supposed to have done something for the school in order to merit this distinction.

The work of the organization is not advertised, but it performs a very useful function in affording an active nucleus for constructive work by the student body. As an instance of its work we find the students' fire department, which is sponsored by Blue Key.

The society of Neograph was founded in 1903. The first meeting was held in St. Luke's Hall. Its purpose is to encourage originality in writing and thinking and to afford its members practice in these. The membership has varied from time to time, but usually it has been limited to ten or fifteen undergownsmen. Neograph continued and flourished at Sewanee from 1903 until 1920, when it was allowed to decline and to become dormant. In 1923 the organization was revived by those members of Sopherim who were alumni of Neograph. The society holds bimonthly meetings, at which times original papers are submitted by the members.

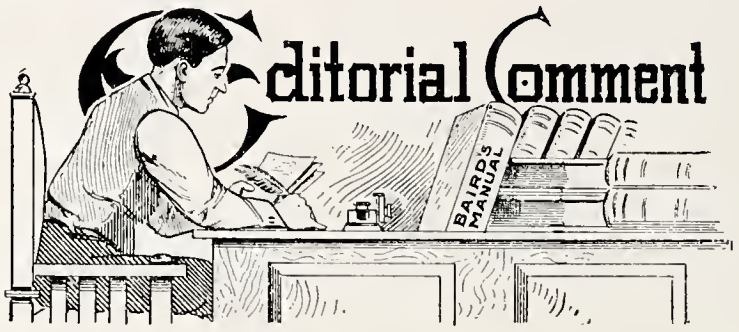
The Debating Season

Sewanee started the past debating season with a vim. The men, whose pictures appear above, were eager to familiarize themselves with the debate resolutions and so took advantage of the opportunity for debating in the literary societies. All but three of last year's team were back and much improved through experience, so that we need feel no surprise at the success of the season as a whole.

Major MacKellar, our debate coach, is proud of the fact that he develops not a few but many men in the art of forensics. This year there were twenty men on the team and all were given a chance at displaying their ability. The policy of using a different set of men for each debate is followed as much as possible.

This year's schedule included the following debates: Two with Vanderbilt, two with Kentucky, two with Southwestern, and one with Tulane. In addition, there were several engagements with smaller schools. Most of the encounters were of the no-decision type, while victories were gained in all except two of the decision affairs. Both Tulane and Southwestern were too much for the mountain boys who journeyed to New Orleans and Memphis.

PVBLICATIONS



POLITICS

The word politics is in its derivation a high word. Originally, the man in politics was deemed the most worthy and able of his particular community. But time has brought its changes; we have found scandal after scandal in our political offices, until today we feel a certain doubt in regard to the man "in politics." The American people have, through their own conduct, cheapened a noble word.

In its early life Sewanee was tainted by no touch of student politics. The intrinsic worth of the individual and not the voting strength of his fraternity was the only point considered. The school with its supreme idealism was accorded a place above such petty and trivial actions. But within the last few years we have felt creeping into our college life the evils of fraternity politics. It has been whispered that certain fraternities were forming combines and that they were "swapping votes." One student has remarked that he did not like the idea of politics, but that he was forced to join the movement in self-defense. The astute campus politician might ask us, "what of it," and hasten to inform us that in other schools fraternities openly exchange votes before an important election. Again we would be compelled to admit the truth of the statement, but somehow we have always cherished the idea that Sewanee was different from other schools, we have boasted that ours is a school of gentlemen. After all, are we going to tolerate an evil just because it exists elsewhere?

Our university purposely adopted a system of dormitories in order that we might live as one large family. They wished to avoid all inter-fraternity strife, and the long years of inter-fraternal good will have been their vindication. Are we, in spite of this, going to allow our fraternities to become mere political organizations? If so, then we do not deserve to call ourselves real fraternity men; but rather we belong to a pin-wearing political party.

Now we pause and look back at the work performed on this volume, and as we do so we think of our staff. Some have been rather slow in handling their tasks, but we are sure that they have all done their best and so we wish to express our appreciation to the entire staff. Especially do we wish to thank Thomas Parker and Edgar Stewart for the immediate attention which they gave to every task with which they were entrusted.

Publications at Sewanee

The Sewanee Review

Is the oldest periodical of its kind in America, having been founded in 1892. In spite of the fact that no remuneration is given for articles, the Review numbers among its contributors many of the foremost thinkers in the country. During the last three years it has been edited by Dr. W. S. Knickerbocker, who has raised it to a higher standard than it had ever before enjoyed.

The Sewanee Purple

Though under the financial management of the Athletic Board of Control, has only students on its editorial staff. It maintains a high standard of journalism and ranks well among similar publications in other Southern institutions.

The Cap and Gown

Is entirely under student control, the management being elected by the Order of Gownsmen. Each year the staff attempts to improve on the annual produced the previous year, until at present it has attained a distinguished level among college year books.

The Mountain Goat

Founded in 1925, is the youngest of the publications at Sewanee. During its early life it barely survived, but each year there has been an improvement. This year the editorial and business staffs have cooperated in putting out the best issues which have ever appeared. It has well earned its popularity as a college humorous magazine.

The Student Vestry

The Student Vestry is a representative body of ten students elected from the classes of the College of Arts and Sciences and from the Theological School. It acts as an advisory council to the Chaplain in respect to student needs; it fosters all plans and organizations which tend to emphasize development of the Christian spirit at Sewanee; and it unites in purpose with religious movements in other colleges.

The Vestry carries on its work through five standing committees. These committees are designated as follows: Missions, Religious Education and Worship, Personal and Social Service, Finance, and Publicity.

Purple Masque enjoyed this year its most prosperous season. In the fall it presented Barry Connors' "Applesauce". After several delays, the second play, "You and I", was presented about the middle of April. The season was closed with the successful presentation of Roi Cooper Megrue's "Tea for Three" at commencement.

New stage sets and other equipment, installed in the Union during the Christmas holidays, were used for the first time during the presentation of "You and I". The new effects added greatly to the success of the performance.

The greatest achievement of the year was the acceptance of Purple Masque into the national honor dramatic society, Alpha Psi Omega.

The Glee Club this year, under the direction of Jack Walthour, measured up in every way to the standard set by those of previous years. The try-outs and the choice of members were conducted early in the fall, so that practice might get under way.

The trip arranged by Manager Gordon included Chattanooga, Nashville, Pulaski, Jackson, Memphis, Birmingham, and Atlanta. In each of the larger cities radio programs were arranged, and the presentations were received with that acclaim which has been accorded our glee clubs of the past.

Traveling with the Glee Club, and indeed a feature of the tour, were the Sewanee Syncopators, long famous as a collegiate orchestra. They were ably directed by Melvin Craig, who likewise excelled with his saxophone. Walthour again maintained his reputation as a banjo player, and Eason "rang rings around" his trumpet.

The orchestra as a whole was composed of a group of boys whose skill was worthy of a much larger and more experienced orchestra. Their playing showed the results of long and earnest practice.

Sewanee is noted throughout the South for its fine dances and the beautiful girls who attend them. This year set a standard which will be difficult for future years to parallel.

Francis Craig and his orchestra were so successful at Thanksgiving that they were summoned again in order to preside at the Easter dances. The latter dances were the first to be held in the new gymnasium where there was ample room for the largest crowd ever before attendant at a Sewanee dance.

Commencement brought diplomas for some of us, and also Jack Crawford, "the Clown Prince of Jazz", with his New York orchestra. They made the mountain fairly rollick with music, and the dances were in every way a success.

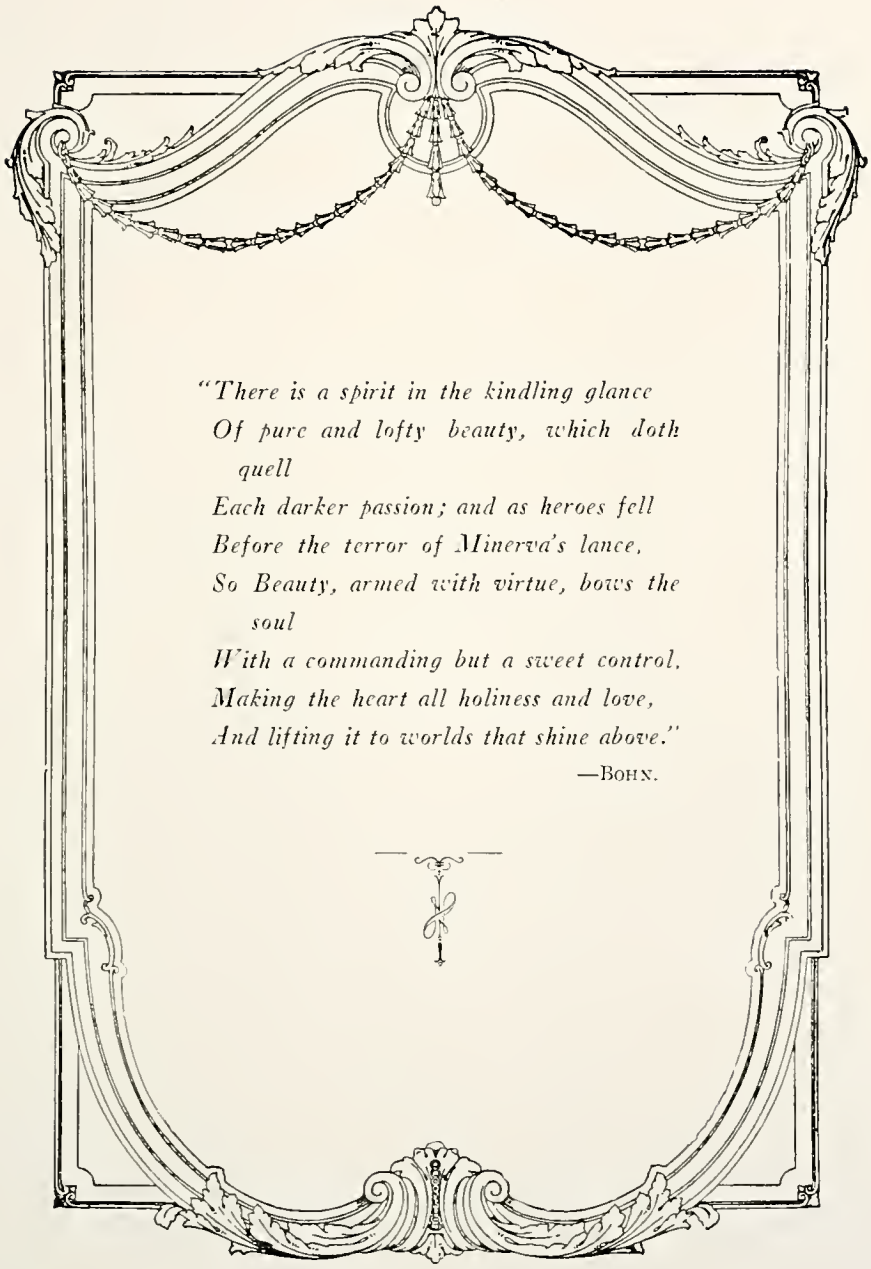
Feature



"There is a spirit in the kindling glance
Of pure and lofty beauty, which doth quell
Each darker passion; and as heroes fell
Before the terror of Minerva's lance,
So Beauty, armed with virtue, bows the soul
With a commanding but a sweet control,
Making the heart all holiness and love,
And lifting it to worlds that shine above."

Notice

It having been frequently remarked that Sewanee had no place for politics, did not want them, and should not have any;

It having been further declared that politicking has a bad effect on the school;

Be it resolved, That we shall permit all elections to be absolutely without prejudice or other harmful influence;

Furthermore, we, the undersigned, shall not attempt to run any election whatsoever.

In conclusion, we believe this experiment to be for the good of the institution, and trust that our successors will say the same thing.

In witness whereof we do affix our seal.

Riding and Hunt Club Meets

The Sewanee Riding and Hunt Club (hunting done the night before and riding done the next day in the Walsh tan-bark arena) finished a very successful year. A large number of new members were taken in and great enthusiasm marked the interest taken in the club's work throughout the entire year. President Stewart, in making his report, thanked the members for their hearty co-operation and wished them every success in the coming year. There was a strong feeling on the part of the Roman group that the Attics should be barred out, their quarry usually being pointed out by Master of Hounds Gass. This was eventually ironed out, chiefly through the efforts of the newer Attics with the help of their Romanist room-mates.

Mr. McGehee, speaking for the Monday-Wednesday-Friday-at-9:30 group, reported an almost 100 per cent successful season. One member had worked out some new and novel methods and a technique which carried him far beyong the others in its results. Mr. McGehee had had excellent opportunities for observing the effects of this new system as well as the actual operation thereof. Mr. Byrne had also had some experience along this line and spoke of it. Mr. Byrne then reported on the 11:30 group on M.W.F. He considered the year as marking a definite step forward in the club's progress, although he had encountered some difficulty in assisting others.

Mr. Boyd, of Houston, reported that his group had not done so well as the others, but attributed it to lack of experience and knowledge of the club's aims. He also said that there was strong opposition to the generally accepted forms of riding, mentioning Mr. Fortune as being particularly opposed. President Stewart said that time would doubtless have an effect on the Freshman's attitude.

Mr. Byrne was elected president for the coming year; Mr. Brunner, vice-president; Mr. Durden, secretary-treasurer, on the condition that he continue his unbroken record of never having attended the arena except as set forth in the Rules and Regulations of the club.

Mr. Johnston was highly commended for his outstanding achievement. Mr. Stewart was elected honorary president, and Mr. McGehee honorary vice-president.

The Club then adjourned over the summer.

Inferno—Or Just Plain Hell

A great stone archway, with some writing above, gave entrance to the place. Stone steps led up to it, and a massive doorway, through which one might enter, yawned darkly.

Timidly we approached it, for we had heard of its terrors from afar. And, although no one was to be seen from the outside, a tremendous turmoil and confusion sounded from within. Seeing no one to bar our way, slowly we slipped inside the door, but at once almost wished we had not done so, for the noises which had sounded so terrifying from without were now increased ten-fold. Shrieks, cries, groans, every noise ever known to issue from human throats fell upon our ears at once, as well as many strange and undefineable sounds which were strange to us. Clicks, and pops, and gurglings, as well as the noise of human throats, resounded through the corridor.

A strong odor smote our nostrils, an odor as of that stuff which cheers men's souls, but somehow stronger and almost terrifying. The place reeked of it.

Above, someone was banging on doors; noises, cries, odors, yells, people running and falling, sounds of blows, all created a horrible sort of medley that filled us with fear.

We turned to flee. A snake glided across our path. We whirled around and sought to run the other way, and saw an apparition of six dogs, one after the other, walk across our path, all seemingly just alike.

Quaking with fear at the terrors of this madhouse, we darted into a room, our breath coming in quick, terrified pants. There before our eyes, in the room, sat a strange sort of parrot, which began to laugh like mad and curse at the top of its crazy voice.

With one jump we were out of the window and tearing across the lawn; behind us we heard a crash as a door fell under strong blows, and the breaking of glass as some poor fellow went through a window.

As we passed the door through which we had entered we saw the name written above it, "Cannon Hall."

Quivering and shaking at the remembrance of the hell that lay within, we ran and ran, off into the night.

Charles: "Is he? He's so dumb he thought when Mr. Guerry announced in chapel for students to keep away from the hospital at night that he was talking about the freshmen in Hell Week."

Student: "Come on, let's go to the library."
Scholar: "Can't; I gotta study."

ALWAYS DOING SOMETHING

Magnolia Masticators

At last the Magnolia Masticators came to the business of the afternoon. It was their first meeting, and after an unusually successful gormandizing of four days and nights (they would have continued it a week, but had to call time to find new waiters and supplies). President Yates called for order. He really doesn't eat so much; it just takes him a long time. Faculty Adviser Kayden had lost the order, and so at the motion of Brother Eason, the great lover of beans, order was dispensed with and they ate without ordering. The president had some difficulty in confining the activities to the business of the day. Vice-President Bruton was fined three plates of ice cream for gargling his soup; such manners cause delay, and so he was instructed to follow the etiquette set forth in the By-Laws and to thereafter inhale all liquids. Eventually several important matters were settled. Freshman Cantrill was elected to membership over the objection of Bro. Daley, who felt that the newcomer was most likely to break all existing records now held by the well-known Baltimore divine. Brother Tolley requested a subsidy for his proficient rating of the waiters. It was felt that everyone was improving in that respect, and would soon equal Brother Tolley's ability. Brother Pete Young claimed the waffle-eating championship and reigned undisputed. On a motion of Treasurer Westmoreland, chairman of the "Get There at One Minute to Eight" committee, a resolution was passed commending the committee for its good work and promising hearty co-operation. Brother A. E. Young suggested that the entire DuBose group be taken in, but it was revealed that they had enjoyed previous experience in logging camps and were therefore ineligible. Brother Boyd, popular Texan proctor, was rebuked for trying to get a head start.

On motion of Brother Patton, formerly of M. B. A., the meeting adjourned.

Shaky: "How do you know she's a good girl?"
Stude: "I went by to take her riding, and she put on her low-heeled shoes."

Gilchrist: "How come you flunked out?"
Crenshaw: "Oh, just a matter of course."

"What's the matter with Regis?"
"He's tight."
"Why, is he Scotch?"

Aviation Examiner: To be a pilot takes plenty of nerve and endurance. You must be able to stand long periods of strife and trouble, and not be disturbed by any confusion or loud noises around you. You must have the ability to pay absolutely no attention to worrisome details. In short, learning to fly is just one long endurance contest. Have you had any experience in that sort of thing?

Tolley and Pearce (together): Oh, yes sir. History I was so much pie to us.

Faculty Members and Outstanding Students Interviewed Regarding Compulsory Classes

For the benefit of its readers the 1929 Cap and Gown (Byrom Dickens, Editor; Earl Lemmon, Business Manager; Get Your Subscriptions in Early—Only $1.50 Down, and Besides, the Editors Need the Money. Yes, the 1929 Cap and Gown has gotten views of our professors and Big Men on compulsory class attendance:

Dean Baker: You knew when you came to this institution that we had compulsory classes, so it seems to me you ought to attend. You know this is a superior student body, anyway. Furthermore, how can I play golf and keep up with class cuts, too? Go to class, say I.

Harry Cain: What did Major Mac say about it? I'm opposed to that. Much obliged for asking me. I'll write an editorial in the Purple about it, if I find time, otherwise Ill get Hines to write it. My leg isn't feeling so good today, guess I better be getting out to the hospital. S'long.

Mr. Martin: Compulsory classes! Just a vulgar American idea. Barbarous! Now in the highly cultured universities of France and England no gentleman would insist on another gentleman attending a class. Students are so dumb anyway they can't learn anything. Abolish classes, and while we're at it, abolish everything.

John Bruton: Although I don't know just what "compulsory classes" means, still I'm in favor of it if the Dean is.

Byrom Dickens: I agree with Cain.

Ted Chattin: I agree with Dickens.

Dr. Knickerbocker: Classes should all be compulsory. Your only trouble here in the backward South is that you don't have enough classes. Classes all day and all night, then maybe you would learn something. Look at me! When I went to college I studied all the time.

There are lots of people in this college—it really isn't a University—you know, who would rather see a football game than study. Football is ruining colleges.

Er, now, er, er, what were we talking about?

Billie Schoolfield: Compulsory classes are a knotty problem all right. Some say have them, and some say not. Now if you ask me for a direct answer, which I hope you won't, I will say that compulsory classes are a knotty problem all right. That answer might be modified somewhat under other circumstances.

Frank Brunner: Sure, compulsory classes are O. K. Of course, I seldom find time to meet any of them myself, but they are a fine thing.

What Sewanee Stands For

THE EDUCATION OF THE WHOLE MAN—

His BODY, in a physical environment and training almost ideal.

His MIND, through courses in a scientifically correct curriculum, and through contact with a faculty strong in scholarship and personality.

His CHARACTER, through the constant influence of Christianity as expounded and exemplified in the life of the University Community.

THE MAKING OF A CITIZEN—

In theory, through the influence of that ideal of patrioticism which we call the Sewanee Spirit.

In practice, through the dynamic living as a citizen in a community of which the student body constitutes the citizenship.

INDIVIDUALITY, ORIGINALITY, INITIATIVE

Taught to think independently, plan independently, but to act as a community member.
